Seen & Heard Around Murray

First thing we heard this morning on the TV was that a Delta Airlines jet had been hijacked from Atlanta and of course we immediately thought of our daughter-in-law who flies with Delta. A call to Miami relieved our fears. Still in bed from a fishing trip the day before.

Bill and Ruth Moffett had a narrow escape Saturday morning on the way to Hopkinsville. As they were going through the LBL, a car pulling a trailer failed to stop at an intersection and Bill hit the trailer as the fellow was trying to get on across. Bill says if he had been going fast it would have been bad since there were four little kids in the back seat of the car. Bill and Ruth were shaken up but fortunately not hurt apparently. That intersection is well known to Bill and he slowed automatically as he approached it. He and Ruth had their seat belts on which probably saved them from serious injury.

Several Murphys in Hopkinsville on Saturday and it is a safe bet to say that most of them wore their seat belts on the way back to Murray.

78 per cent of all adults in the United States read a newspaper yesterday and 70 per cent of all teenagers read a newspaper yesterday.

Here is how its works out by age group of those reading a newspaper yesterday: age 18-24 73 per cent; age 25-34 77 per cent; age 35-49 82 per cent; age 50-64 79 per cent; and 65 and older 72 per cent.

Here is how they stack up according to education: graduated college 87 per cent; attended college 13 years 87 per cent; graduate high school 83 per cent; attended high school 1-3 years 75 per cent; no high school 64 per cent.

The question was asked "Suppose you had a teenage child who won a good citizenship award at school; where would you most like to have it reported?" 65 per cent said "in the newspaper" and 23 per cent named the next highest medium.

All this and much more from members of the Newsprint Information Committee which sponsored a 10 year program of advertising research about newspapers.

Low Turnout Of Voters Expected Across State

By GLEN CARPENTER
FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) —

Don't feel slighted in the least if the congressional candidates didn't exactly beat down your door asking you to vote for them in this Tuesday's election. Primary elections are traditionally the time when the party faithful — especially those seeking patronage from political leaders — are turned out to vote. Not much is done and not much money is spent to arouse the interest of the electorate. In this way, a small percentage of the voters choose who will represent each party in the fall. Added to this is the fact Ken-

Congressman Frank A. Stubblefield notified the Ledger and Times today that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a loan in the amount of $777,210 to the Murray Municipal Housing Commission for low-rent housing to be located east of Broad Street at the end of Fairlane Drive.

Of the fifty units to be constructed, forty will be designated especially for the elderly.

The City Council, at its last regular meeting, passed an ordinance on the first reading rezoning the strip of land which lies to the east of Bagwell Manor Subdivision.

Some residents of the subdivision voiced objections to the rezoning, contending that the value of the property would be damaged by its proximity to the housing project.

Mayor Holmes Ellis and others contended that the housing projects are well kept and as attractive as other housing in the city.

The vote rezoning the strip was unanimous.

S. Vietnam Reports Withdrawal Of Several Thousand Men Today

By WALTER WHITEHEAD

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam said several thousand of its troops withdrew from Cambodia today, with about 13,000 others reported battling their way up the Mekong River to link up with Cambodian soldiers who captured the town of Tonle Bet.

The focus of the war remained in Cambodia, where the foreign minister, Yem Sambaur, said he is going to ask President Nixon to keep American troops there past the June 30 withdrawal deadline and "until the end of the war."

South Vietnamese headquarters said the troops withdrawn from the cross-border offensive this morning from a thrust along Cambodia's coast that got to within 15 miles of Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, and then stopped.

Government spokesmen would not specify how many were brought out, saying only "several thousand." They said it left slightly fewer than 40,000 South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia along with about 10,000 Americans.

Both The City And County Show Gain

SEVEN CITED

Seven persons were cited by the Murray Police Department over the weekend. They were two for reckless driving, one for no operator's license and no helmet, one for unnecessary noise, and one for no operator's license.

A United Press International story last Saturday concerning the release of census figures for Calloway County was incorrect. The story indicated at one point that the county had gained, but in the breakdown of figures, showed that the county had lost in population.

Actually Calloway County gained from 20,972 to 27,206 over the ten year period 1960 to 1970. The 1960 census reflected that the population of Calloway County was 20,972. The new census figures for 1970 are 27,206.

The population figures for Murray were correct: 9,303 in 1960 and 13,484 in 1970.

Both the city and county gained in population over the decade 1960-70, with the city showing a gain of 4,181.

Traffic Collisions Investigated Sunday

Two traffic collisions were investigated by the Murray Police Department on Sunday. No injuries were reported.

The first occurred on South 12th Street at 2:36 p. m. between a 1963 Chevrolet 1/2 ton truck driven by William I. Bucy of Route Two, Puryear, Tenn., and a 1968 Ford two door hardtop driven by Sammy Mabry of Route One Cunningham.

Police said Bucy, going north on 12th Street in the right lane of the four lane, was making a left turn and failed to see the Mabry car going north in the left lane of the street.

Damage to the Bucy car was on the left front and to the Mabry car on the right side.

The other collision occurred on the parking lot of Kentucky Fried Chicken.

Vehicles involved were a 1967 Dodge two ton-owned by Lippes Seed Company, and driven by Lonzie Dunlap of Henry, Tenn., and a 1965 Buick four door hardtop owned by Willie Earl Perry and driven by Ida Bell Perry of 408 1/2 North First Street, Murray.

Local Man Charged With "Malicious Shooting" Saturday

Guthrie McNeely of Murray has been charged with "malicious shooting with intent to kill" by Calloway County officials, according to the warrant issued on Saturday.

McNeely is now in the Calloway County Jail under a $25,000 bond, according to Sheriff Clyde Steele.

the records of the Murray Police Department. Mrs. Stanley is now listed in serious condition at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She was reported to have been shot in the side.

Murray City Patrolman Bill Harris picked up McNeely at the corner of Vine and 8th Streets about three minutes after the police received the call on the shooting.

McNeely was charged at that time with driving while intoxicated before an investigation was conducted by the city and county authorities. He did not have a gun in his possession at that time, the police said.

Later in the morning a passerby found a .38 caliber pistol at 8th and Vine Streets which was turned over to law officials.

The city and county authorities made the charge of "malicious shooting with intent to kill" at about 8:30 a. m. Saturday.

MUS Summer Session

Still Has Vacancies

A number of vacancies still exist in grades three through six for the seven-week summer term at the Murray State University School, according to Vernon Shown, the director.

The others, kindergarten, first and second grades, are full, he said, emphasizing that parents wishing to register children for any of the grades in which vacancies exist should do so immediately.

This may be done by calling the director's office, 762-2266, at the University School.

The summer term for the elementary school, grades one through six, begins June 15 and will end July 31 with classes being held daily from 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. A swimming hour will be announced later.

Registration fee for the summer term is $25, which includes registration, tuition, swimming, supplies and insurance.

A special, two-week, swimming class for children six years of age and up also will be offered with two, 45-minute sessions being held each day from 11 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., beginning July 20.

Tuition for this special class is $5, Shown said, and Mrs. Shirley Wilford will be the instructor. Students wishing to enroll for this class should contact the director's office in advance of the summer term and have their names placed on the pre-registration list.

Another unique feature of the summer term at the school this year will be in the fifth grade, which will be taught by Mrs. Malcolm Beach, Sunbury-on-Thames, Middlesex, England.

Several vacancies still exist in this class, he said.

Thursday, June 18, is the last day a student may enroll for the summer term, the director noted, and classes will be limited to 30 students each.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Weak economic figures should be translated as favorable developments for investment policy, according to Argus Research Corp. The latest batch of economic statistics indicates that business activity declined slightly in April and this is good news from an investment viewpoint, the firms says.

Like it or not, America's beacon is the stock market, according to Janeway Service. It has gone up in the past without inspiring international confidence, but it cannot go down—and has never gone down—without shattering confidence in America's leadership "and arousing suspicions that something is rotten where the world expects the money to come from," the analyst adds.

The economy is in a recession that "by no means" has run its course, according to Francis I. DuPont & Co. It may well be that capital spending, one strong area, may soon level off or actually decline. However, this "would lift an enormous burden" from the credit markets, the firm observes.

'Occult Boom' On Upswing In America

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

One of the most curious phenomena of contemporary American life is a tremendous upsurge of public interest in astrology, witchcraft, spiritualism and other occult arts.

"The present 'occult boom' seems to have tapped a hidden reservoir of the mind," says Editorial Research Reports. "Classes in the history of witchcraft, sorcery and the black arts are being taught in many high schools and universities, and they are usually over-enrolled."

Bookstore shelves are laden with occult books, both sensational and academic. More than 1,200 daily newspapers in the United States publish columns on astrology...

Judgment on Churches "There is abundant evidence that millions of persons half-believe, are willing to believe, or do indeed believe in mysterious forces that are dismissed by science and most Western religions as superstition."

That such a mass retrogression into ancient idolatries should take place in this supposedly enlightened age is a judgment on America's churches.

The Rev. David H. C. Read, pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church in New York, says there is today a great "yearning for the transcendent," particularly among young people who are in revolt against a secular and materialistic society.

Psychotherapist Ludwig B. Lefebvre, writing Psychology Today magazine, agrees that vast numbers of people are seeking ways "to get beyond themselves." And most churches, he says, are not responding adequately to this hunger for "direct contact with a superhuman agency."

Very Serious Indictment Since "direct contact with a Suprahuman agency" or in conventional religious language, communion with God is, precisely what churches are supposed to be offering, it is a very serious indictment to say that most of them are not "responding" to a widespread demand for it.

A great effort has been made to de-emphasize the supernatural, "other-world" aspect of Christian teaching, and to present religion as a here-and-now aid to ethical behavior, by churches.

But it is beginning to appear that "modern man" is not quite as ready as some theologians thought to reject anything he can't explain on rational grounds. On the contrary, he seems to retain an ineradicable intuition that there is more to this world than is dreamt of in materialistic philosophy and secularized religion.

Giants Top San Diego In Doubleheader Sunday

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Charlie Fox seems so awed by his new job as manager of the San Francisco Giants that he's not going to do anything but sit back and watch the club win.

"As a kid I rooted for the Giants in the days John McGraw was manager," Fox imagine, now I'm manager of the Giants."

Fox then wrote out a lineup card that was exactly the same as King's last one and watched the Giants beat the San Diego Padres, 6-1, in the second game of the doubleheader, he only switched catchers and watched the club complete a sweep with a 7-6 triumph.

"There's nothing to this job," Fox quipped when it was over. It was easy in the first game as Gaylord Perry (6-5) pitched a four-hitter and Willie McCovey hit two homers for the 30th time in his career. Willie Mays and Bobby Bonds hit one each.

Makes No Difference
In the second game, the lack of good pitching which proved to be King's downfall—again plagued the Giants as starter Mike McCormick lasted only five innings. But it didn't make much difference, because the Giants scored seven runs in the fifth—six unearned—to give McCormick the win. Two errors by third baseman Ed Spiezio and one by Steve Huntz with the bases loaded helped the Giants, Ron Hunt had a two-run double in the inning.

In other games, New York beat Chicago, 3-1, after losing the first game by the identical, 3-1, margin. Pittsburgh blanked Montreal, 3-0. Philadelphia edged St. Louis, 6-5, in 10 innings. Houston downed Cincinnati, 10-7, and Los Angeles beat Atlanta, 8-1.

In the American League, New York beat Cleveland twice, 6-5, and then 8-7, in 11 innings. Oakland downed Chicago twice, 5-1, and 5-2. Baltimore beat Boston, 2-1, in 10 innings but the Red Sox took the second game, 4-3. Washington topped Detroit, 6-4. Kansas City tripped Milwaukee, 6-5, in 10 innings and Minnesota edged California, 6-5.

The Cubs had a shot at a four-game sweep over the Mets after they beat Tom Seaver in the first game of the doubleheader.

Tosses Two-Hitter
But in the second game, Nolan Ryan, who hadn't pitched in two weeks, tossed a two-hitter to give the Mets a split. Ryan had been sidelined by military duty and a rainout. Ron Swoboda, who struck out three times in the opener, drove in two runs with a run-scoring single and a sacrifice fly.

The Cincinnati Reds, who aren't accustomed to blowing leads this season, did it Sunday against Houston. Gary Nolan had a 7-0 margin in the sixth and took a 7-3 lead into the eighth, but the Astros rallied for seven runs to snap the Reds' four-game winning streak. The rally took Jim Bouton off the hook after the controversial author started the game for Houston and was lifted when he failed to retire the first four batters.

Larry Hise tied the game with a two-out, two-run homer in the ninth and Tony Taylor won it with a bases-loaded single in the 10th as the Phils topped St. Louis. Richie Allen tied a record he shares with five other players by striking out five times.

Los Angeles pounded out 15 hits to down Atlanta. Alan Foster singled in the game's first run and was touched for 11 hits in 6 2-3 innings but got the win with the help of hitless relief ball by Joe Moeller. Moeller retired Hank Aaron with two on and two on in the seventh and set down the Braves in the final two innings.

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—The National Football League traded veteran offensive guard Gary Kirtner to the Cincinnati Bengals for veteran defensive tackle Andy Rice.

Rice, 6-foot-2, 169 pounds, is a five-year veteran who was drafted by Cincinnati from the Kansas City Chiefs in 1967 and was a starter his two years with the expansion team.

Brothers in harness
COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Ted Turcotte Jr. of Mattawa, Ontario, is one of nine brothers now active as harness drivers in the United States and Canada.

Wilt's mark
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Wilt Chamberlain's 28 free throws against the New York Knicks in 1962 set a National Basketball Association record.

Hank's homers
ATLANTA (UPI)—Hank Aaron of the Atlanta Braves hit 40 or more home runs during six seasons of his major league career.

Yarbrough Wins World 600 Sunday

By TERRY WOOTEN

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI) — "Lady Luck" and the clutch relief driving of Lee Roy Yarbrough proved the right combination Sunday to give Donnie Allison and his Ford their first victory in the World 600 stock car race.

Allison, who had won last fall's National 500 at the high-banked, mile and one-half Charlotte Motor Speedway had been unable to click in the 600-mile race the last two years, finishing second both times.

But the Hueytown, Ala., race driver had everything going for him Sunday, picking up $39,600 for his victory. His winning speed was 129,680 m.p.h.

Cale Yarbrough finished second in the race in a Mercury, two laps off the pace. He won $17,380. Benny Parsons of Detroit, Mich., was third in a Ford, four laps back and Tiny Lund of Cross, S.C. was fourth in a Dodge. Fifth place went to James Hyton of Inman, S.C.

Yarbrough guided the poppy red Ford Talladega across the finish line after relieving Allison on lap 355 of the 400 lap race. Allison had been forced to relinquish the car after insulation in the floorboard gave away, exposing the driver's feet to the heat from exhaust pipes.

Allison said his feet were blistered, making it too uncomfortable for him to continue driving.

Allison's luck came with Ford driver David Pearson's misfortune several laps later.

Pearson, leading Allison by two laps, came into the pits for a final stop with 237 laps remaining in the race. He never got back on the track.

"I pushed in the clutch to gear it down as I entered pit road," said a dejected Pearson after the race. "But even with the pedal down it stayed in gear. We found pieces of the clutch on the pit road under the car."

Pacers Make Bid For ABA Championship Tonight — LA

By JAMES F. COUR

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Indiana Pacers, who had to leave the corks in their champagne Saturday, make another bid for their initial American Basketball Association championship tonight against the scrappy Los Angeles Stars.

"Let them stare at the champagne," Los Angeles General Manager Jim Hardy cracked after the Stars' 117-113 overtime victory at Indianapolis that cut the Pacers' advantage in the playoff finals to 3-2. "We're a beer and coke team,"

If the Stars win tonight, the best-of-seven game series will move back to Indianapolis for the final Tuesday night.

"We have an awful big challenge in front of us," Stars' Coach Bill Sharman said. "But we were down to Dallas, 2-1, in the playoffs and won that series. And we lost the first game to Denver and then won four straight."

"We might not have as much talent as the other clubs in the league but no other club hustles more than we do."

It will be the Stars' final game at the Sports Arena here. New owner Bill Daniels, a Denver businessman who purchased the club during the regular season, has said he will move the franchise next year.

He said he would make an announcement about a week after the playoffs concluded whether the Stars would be going to Anaheim, Calif., or Salt Lake City next season.

Little Mack Calvin, who averaged only 10.7 points in the first four playoff games, scored 33 points including six of his team's 10 in overtime in Los Angeles' second win.

"I think we were tense and keyed too high," Indiana Coach Bob Leonard said. "We played some bad basketball but Los Angeles has a lot of heart, some great shooters and they played a hell of a game."

Roger Brown, the Pacers' veteran forward who was the club's leading regular season scorer with a 23.04 average, is averaging 30.2 points against the Stars. In his last two games, he has averaged 46.

Boog Powell Credits Good Start To Bad Spring Training

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

As early as two months ago, Boog Powell figured he'd get off to a good start this season. "I'm not joking, but my start could be due to a bad spring training," said the muscular, blond first baseman of the Baltimore Orioles after his team split a Sunday doubleheader with Boston, winning the first game, 2-1, in 10 innings, before dropping the nightcap, 4-3.

Powell went 2-for-4 in each game, belting his 13th homer in the nightcap, and raising his average to .320.

"I didn't hit my weight (225) in spring training," Powell noted, "but then the years I've had a good spring always meant bad starts for me."

Baltimore's split saw the Orioles' lead in the American League's East Division reduced to 5 1/2 games as second-place New York swept a doubleheader from Cleveland, 6-5 and 8-7, in 11 innings. California nipped Minnesota, 6-5; Oakland took two from Chicago, 5-1 and 5-2; Washington downed Detroit, 6-4, and Kansas City shaded Milwaukee, 6-5, in 10 innings in other AL action.

Pittsburgh Blanks Montreal
In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked Montreal, 3-0; Philadelphia edged St. Louis, 6-5, in 10 innings; Houston topped Cincinnati, 10-7; Los Angeles defeated Atlanta, 8-1; Chicago and New York split with the Cubs winning the opener, 3-1, and the Mets taking the nightcap, 3-1; and San Francisco swept a pair from San Diego, 6-1, and 7-6.

Powell's homer in the second game went for nought as the Red Sox snapped a 3-3 tie in the ninth when Tony Conigliaro scored on Dick Schofield's sacrifice fly. Sonny Siebert went the distance for Boston, scattering nine hits in upping his record to a 4-2 and snapping the Red Sox' 10-game road losing streak. Brooks Robinson's sixth homer in the 10th inning of the opener gave the Orioles their victory after Baltimore's Curt Motton had delivered a pinch single to score Dave May in the ninth with the tying run which sent the game into extra innings.

Sandy Alomar's ninth-inning single scored pinch runner Jarvis Tatum with the winning run as California edged Minnesota and moved within a half game of the first-place Twins in the West Division. Paul Doyle, the fourth of sixth Angel pitchers, received credit for the victory while reliever Ron Perranoski took the loss.

Horace Clarke singled home the winning run for New York in the 11th inning of the nightcap after John Ellis' homer in the eighth gave the Yankees their opening game triumph over Cleveland. The Indians slammed six homers in the second game, including three by Tony Horton. Lindy McDaniel picked up both wins in relief while Fred Lasher was charged with both losses.

Out-of-the-Park Homer
Chuck Dobson's one-hit pitching highlighted Oakland's first-game victory over Chicago while the Athletics took the nightcap with the help of Don Mincher's two-run homer which sailed completely out of Chicago's Comiskey Park. John Odom, with relief help from Paul Lindblad and Jim Grant, won the second contest.

Rick Reichard's grand slam homer highlighted a six-run second inning which carried Washington past Detroit. Joe Coleman went the first seven innings for the Senators to gain his seventh lifetime victory without a loss over the Tigers

The win saddled Detroit starter Mickey Lolich with his fifth loss in 10 decisions.

Bob Taylor's two-run pinch single with the bases loaded in the 10th inning gave Kansas City its win over Milwaukee which had taken a 5-4 lead in the top half of the inning on Tommy Harper's triple and Ted Kubiak's single. Moe Drabrowsky pitched the final 1 2-3 innings for the Royals to get the win while Gene Brabender (1-6) took the loss.

Stram Gives Away "Trade Secrets" To TV Audience

NEW YORK (UPI)—It'll be easy to recognize Hank Stram at the National Football League's coaches' meeting this week.

He'll be the one with the guilty look on his face.

Stram, the coach of the Super Bowl champion Kansas City Chiefs, gave the nation's football fans a real treat Sunday—an intimate look at how a coach pilots his team to the world championship.

Stram allowed the NFL film men to wire him and record his comments during the Chiefs' 23-7 victory over the Minnesota Vikings last January.

The results were on national television Sunday when the film was shown to the public after some press previews in the last few weeks. The film probably revealed more than Stram—or his fellow coaches—would like revealed.

It's one of the unwritten rules of coaching that coaches don't ridicule each other in public. But during the film, Stram wasn't showing much respect for the vaunted Minnesota defense. He said completing short passes against the Vikings was like "stealing." He said that during one play "Karl Kassarlike was running around like a Chinese fire drill."

The film also showed Stram calling the key reverse plays that helped turn the game around and the play for Mike Garrett's short touchdown run.

It was the revealing kind of look fans would like to see even more of, but it isn't likely to happen again. Even Stram has said that it was just a one-time thing.

Stram and the 25 other pro football coaches are in town for meetings this week, which will be followed by the owners' meeting.

The pro football officials will gather Monday night at the third annual dinner hosted by the New York Chapter of the Pro Football Writers of America.

Stram will receive an award as the "Superman" of the Super Bowl.

Dear Abby

Is picking men like picking bulls?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We sure got a chuckle out of the lady who was all primed for a romantic evening with a big, handsome muscle man, then he took his shirt off and stood in front of the mirror flexing his muscles all night.

That gal just didn't know how to pick 'em. She should have looked for the gleam in his eye. No matter what the rest of him is like, if he doesn't have a gleam in his eye he's got to be a dud. Why, even a runt has what it takes, if he has a gleam in his eye!

Now that's the way my husband picks his bulls. He just looks at their eyes. Of course we have to build good strong fences because we don't want any trouble with the neighbors. So pass the word along, Abby. Check the eyes. It never fails with men or bulls.

FARMER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Thanks, lady. It's good to know how to avoid a bum steer.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me. I've just come home from having lunch with a girl friend. I left my husband a note telling him where I was. When I got home there was a picture of me on the table with a KNIFE stuck thru it, and a note saying "Clean up the house or GET OUT!"

Abby, I'll admit my beds weren't made and the dishes weren't done, but should that upset a normal person that much? I have a job, 5 days a week, 5 hours a day, and a 6-month-old baby to take care of. I have no help in the house, and I guess I'm not very well organized when it comes to housework, but my husband knew that when he married me.

We've been married 2 years, and my husband has literally beat me when I've done something he didn't like. I cut my hair without his permission and he kicked me and kicked me. And once I wore a dress that was a half inch above my knee and he ripped the hem out and tore the dress. Abby, I'm afraid of him. So far he hasn't hurt the baby, but what if, when she gets older, she makes a mistake? Please help me.

SCARED AND ALONE

DEAR SCARED: Your husband sounds like a sick man. Tell him that if he doesn't get psychiatric help at once you are leaving. [And do it.] If you continue to live with a man who symbolically "kisses" you, you can't say you weren't forewarned, should he act out this violent threat.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to address this letter to all the dopey high school teachers who tell their students, "Someday you will look back and realize that these were the happiest days of your life." I will tell you what high school is like:

High school is not knowing what to wear, or how to fix your hair, or how to get along with anyone.

High school is having to sit in the back of the bus with the hoodlums because all the other seats are filled, and not being able to do a damned thing about it when they get fresh because you're too embarrassed to tell the driver what they said to you.

High school is having the high-class kids look down on you because your parents are "foreigners."

High school is being lonesome, and wondering why there are so many things wrong with you.

This is my second year in college, and I love every minute of it. But as I look back on my "happy, carefree" high school days, I get nauseous.

So, teachers, please quit telling your students that adolescence is the "happiest" time of their lives, or they're likely to commit suicide.

BEEEN THERE, AND GLAD I'M OUT

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DISAPPOINTED DEMOCRAT FROM TENNESSEE": Please send me your name and address. I have a letter from HHH I want to forward to you.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Being Kind To Animals Seems to be Talk Of Writer As She Goes Through Routine

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

HOMEFRONT, U.S.A. (UPI)

My star signs never mentioned it, but this spring apparently I'm supposed to be kind to animals—and I wish the same could happen to you. Sometimes the animals return the favor.

This somewhat tender spring-time saga features a cast of furry and feathered creatures—a squirrel, a family of ducks and a dog somehow related to Charlie Brown's Snoopy.

The animal events occurred over several days. It seems to be a trend. I can hardly wait for further developments.

Like Snoopy, the strange dog made himself an outfielder on an odd team the other evening.

The not very well-proportioned group included a middle-aged mother (me), complete with creaking joints; a boy, 13; another boy, 6.

Dog Helps Mother

The dog took to helping the mother chase long drives. He would catch the ball before it rolled out of sight, sit by it and wag his tail.

He didn't save the mother as much as a retriever would, but he did save the ball. That was important. Until he came on the scene, the mother with her weak eyes had completely lost sight of the second lost ball.

The family of ducks was starting across a main and well-used road one afternoon. Cars stopped for about five minutes to allow the little group safety in its waddling to the river on the other side.

When traffic resumed all drivers were smiling. The grins were associated with a warm feeling inside.

And The Squirrel Story

I don't know whether the squirrel story is a be kind to animal yarn or not, I think the animal might have been kind to me.

There he was this morning, investigating the tulip buds. He pulled off a bud, rolled it in his paws and then discarded it. He was making quick work of the bed of buds. I opened the

Airline Executive First Thought Of The Idea Of Female Stewardess For Airplane

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER

GLENDAL, Calif. (UPI)

All you flighty types, hear this: The next time you look at a stewardess, thank your lucky astro signs that Steven A. Stimpson didn't like to hand out grub.

Sandwiches, to be exact. Stimpson was an executive with Boeing Air Transport some decades ago. He got stuck with a task on a dumpy flight from Reno in the early days of commercial aviation. The task? Handing out sandwiches.

While passing out the edibles, Stimpson thought meal service could be handled in the air by adding a steward to the crew.

Later he was convinced by Ellen Church, a nurse at a San Francisco Hospital, that a female could do the job better than a male.

First Stewardess Files

Shortly after, on May 15, 1930, the world's first airline stewardess went aloft on a flight from San Francisco to Chicago, opening a new career world for women—that of stewardess, a field employing 50,000 women worldwide these days.

The first airline stewardess to go on duty 40 years ago doled out cold fried chicken, bread and butter sandwiches and potato chips.

"We ate cold chicken 'til it came out our ears," laughed Harriet Fry Iden, one of the original eight registered nurses hired by Boeing.

Looking back four decades, she recalls a dubious feeling when the Nursing Registry in Chicago asked if she wanted to try out for a job as a stewardess on an airplane.

Was No Such Job

"I knew right away something radically must be wrong," she said. "There wasn't any such job in existence."

The pioneer airline stewardess, Ellen Church Marshall, died of injuries suffered in a 1965 horseback riding accident. She hired the other seven stewardesses.

In addition to Mrs. Iden they included Inez Keller Fulte, of San Diego; Cornelia Peterman Tyson, of Corona Del Mar, Calif.; Margaret Abbott Henry, of Del Norte, Colo.; Alva Johnson, killed in an auto accident nearly 30 years ago; Ellis Crawford Poiola, of San Francisco; and Jessie Carter Bronson, of Mineral, Calif.

The first commercial passengers were people like Amelia Earhart, Jay Gould and Will

When a curler is plucked from the bottom, another drops down to its place, heated and ready to use. All curlers heat at the same time and remain heated until removed from the set.
